

STARTING A NEW YEAR always presents a few problems in the getting organized department.

At least it does for us. Aside from the fact that we probably will be writing 1969 on checks and letters for some time, there are other factors involved in getting started on a new 12-month period.

There is always a sort of a letdown feeling.

We find, for example, that we have been so intent for the last few weeks in tying the loose ends together of the past year that we continue to spin our wheels for a few weeks in the new year.

The problem has always been particularly acute for us because of our involvement in newspapers of one kind or another.

That so-called "letdown" feeling we were telling you about really gets us in trouble at times.

Mainly because another issue of the newspaper must make its appearance while one is still relaxing from bidding the old year farewell and welcoming the new one.

There really hasn't been enough time to regroup.

And we have a hunch that the issue of the paper in question suffers accordingly.

Or had you noticed?

TRADITIONALLY THE last issue of The Press is mainly devoted to newsworthy or noteworthy pictures that had appeared in this newspaper during the past 12 months.

It has always proved a popular feature and this year (last year) apparently was no exception.

The staff at the paper enjoys the pictorial review as much as our readers.

Not only because it does mean a little less work in putting the paper to bed but also because it is interesting to go through the past files and dig out those pictures.

It also is almost shocking to learn just how many things have happened during the past year.

And then to realize that more of the same is going to happen in the next 12 months. Wow.

ONE OF THE PHOTOS that appeared on the front page in that review of the year was of the nine past mayors of the City of Campbell.

Since 1952 (when Campbell was incorporated) there have been nine mayors of this city. (Homer Hyde, the current mayor, is No. 10.)

All nine of the gentlemen were guests at last year's Chamber of Commerce installation dinner and posed for a group picture.

Four of the former mayors no longer live within the city limits of Campbell and one of them (Myron Fairchild - 1958-60) had to come from quite a distance for the affair.

Few cities that we know of could get such a group of local VIP's together at one time.

And, of course, there is some question of whether it could ever happen again.

INCIDENTALLY, THE picture of the mayors that was used was not taken by us. It was shot prior to our arrival at the dinner.

However, a friend of ours, Lew Armistead, who was then working on another paper in the area, graciously gave us an extra copy of the picture he took.

Lew, a top newspaperman, was nabbed by the U.S. Army during the past year.

After attending a special Army journalism school, Lew is now a specialist in the U.S. Army information office in Oakland.

He paid a hurried visit to our office recently bringing with him a news release and photo.

Unfortunately we missed

TOWER TO TOWER—A bird's eye view (from the top of the training tower at Campbell's new fire station on Sunny Oaks slated to open this month) looking toward "The Towers" in Campbell's "Prune Yard".

New fire station opens this month

Final work on the construction of Campbell's new $344,000 fire station on Sunny Oaks was being rushed this week in order to complete the facility by Jan. 15, according to Fire Chief George Maxwell.

Designated as "Fire Station No. 2", the plant, which is being built with bond funds approved in Oct. 1967, will have one of the most complete training facilities in the area in the 4-story, 55-foot tower which is located on the rear portion of the property, the fire chief reports.

A percolation pond of the Santa Clara Flood Control District is located between the tower and the 5500-sq. foot station.

The pond and surrounding area is to be landscaped and water (about a million gallons per week) used for training

Youth suspect questioned in 20 burglaries

Campbell Police are holding a 16-year-old Campbell boy who has admitted to committing at least six of the recent residential burglaries that were recorded over the holidays. Captain Bonald Burr stated that the youth was probably responsible for 20 of the crimes if not more.

Numerous houses were broken into during the last two weeks with the burglar being very selective, taking only jewelry, money or weapons. The youth was apprehended at his home after Santa Clara County police officials and Campbell police compared notes which pin-pointed the suspect.

Also over the weekend the Campbell Music Center front window was broken by a beer bottle hurled through the window. A $30 guitar was removed through the broken pane which was valued at $250.

Other commercial establishments suffering losses over the weekend included Brown's Service Station, 500 W. Hamilton Ave., $50; Al's Fine Foods, 1686 W. Campbell Ave., $245, and Salsiccia's Service Station, 471 E. Campbell Ave., $80.

Council may get three parcels for library on Monday

Agreements to purchase three of the seven parcels between Central and Harrison needed for the new library may be ready for City Council action next Monday, Jan. 12, according to City Manager Bob Stephens.

Stephens said that Felix Castellanos, the city's acquisition agent, had indicated that the three agreements were ready and that negotiations with some of the other property owners involved were proceeding satisfactorily.

The City Council next Monday is also scheduled to hold a public hearing and possibly give first reading to an ordinance that would allow conversion of some residential structures in professional office zones into general offices.

The Planning Commission has recommended that such a change be made in the ordinance which now prohibits any type of residential conversion.

The Council on Monday is also expected to schedule a study session on the question recently raised by Mrs. Velma Olds, city treasurer for the past 12 years.

Mrs. Olds, 71, has indicated she will seek reelection for her fourth-year term as city treasurer in the city election in April, 1970. However, she suggested that the City Council consider placing a measure before the electorate in April, which, if passed, would eliminate the position that now pays $100 per month at the end of her term of office, if elected in April, in

Theater owners get okay for apartments--BUT

A 244-unit apartment complex on a landlocked parcel owned by Syufy Enterprises, operators of Winchester Drive-In Theater, adjacent to it, won approval of the Planning Commission on Monday night...with conditions.

But action on the zone change request and use permit for a third screen by Syufy Enterprises was continued.

It was conceded by all concerned that the controversial question of what is going to happen to the property eventually was left unanswered for the time being but must be met at another time.

The two conditions which were included as part of the Planning Commission approval and which involve access to the property, complicate the problem which has been before the Planning Commission and City Council periodically for more than a year.

Again a packed house, made up mostly of residents who object to the proposed third screen, was on hand in the Council chambers to listen to the proceedings. Unlike previous sessions on the question, audience participation was limited because no public hearing on the matter was

The hearings scheduled on the zone change, which is necessary if a third screen is installed on the property, and the use permit for the screen were continued until the next meeting, Jan. 19. Hopes were expressed that the matter could be closer to being resolved in the meantime.

The property is now zoned for high density apartments (R-3-S) in which a drive-in theater is prohibited.

But access to the property is the problem.

The Planning Commission specified in approving the apartment complex that (1) access must be provided at no

New slate takes office Thursday at noon meeting

Bob Bullard, CPA, who served as first vice-president of the Chamber of Commerce during the past year, is scheduled to officially take over the office of president for 1970 at noon this Thursday, Jan. 8.

He will receive the gavel of office from Neal Royer, superintendent of elementary schools and outgoing president, at the directors' luncheon meeting at Ken's House of Pancakes.

Taking office with Bullard will be Norm Paul, co-owner of Plaza Theaters as 1st vice-president who moves up from the second "veep" spot he held last year.

Al LaPlante, of New York Life, who has consistently set records for obtaining new CofC members, is slated to be second vice-president with Bob Blonder, manager of the new Barclays Bank (formerly First Valley) retaining the office of treasurer.

The annual installation of officers will take place at Villa Felice on Friday, Jan. 23. District Attorney Louis Bergna is scheduled to be installing officer, changing a "tradition" established in 1966. Superior Judge Richard W. Rhodes has been the installing officer for the past four years.

At the installation ceremonies, eight new directors elected in November will take office with the seven hold-over board members.

Newly-elected directors include, Tom State, First National Bank; Ed Fabbri, Bank of America; Myron Alexander

City objects to planned opening of "Prune Pit"

The Wrinkled Prune Annex, 30 Central Ave., is scheduled to open the Prune Pit, first of four bistros planned for the converted packing plant to-night, according to a release issued by Stan Becker, owner, despite charges by city fire and building officers that Becker has not met conditions levied by the city.

The former building, part of the old prune processing plant in Campbell has been converted to a beer and wine cellar with a center pavilion stage and four small triangular stages located in each corner of the room. Opening is scheduled for 6 p.m.

Officials have claimed that Becker has not applied for a building permit; has not complied with any of the local or state fire prevention codes.

THERE WAS A DIFFERENCE—On Jan. 1, 1970, all backyard burning was banned in the areas (including Campbell) under the jurisdiction of the Bay Area Pollution Control District. So, understandably, when the above conflagration took place on Tuesday morning there were many phone calls from irate residents asking "How come?"

The big burn took place on Kennedy Ave. near the railroad tracks as part of the training program of the Campbell Fire Department. The buildings were being demolished to make room for a warehouse. That's how come.

Harrassed fire department officials wearily explain that the department had to get permission for the burn just as orchardists must do under the current regulations. They did not know when the next control burn would take place. Or if there ever would be another one.

Prospects for 1970

Naturally as we start a new year and a new decade many forecasts are being made of what is in store for all of us.

One of the most comprehensive of such reports was recently distributed by the Pacific Gas and Electric Company.

Entitled "Market Outlook '70", the 48-page booklet is attractively designed and interestingly presented.

We will not attempt to republish the contents here but all of us must concede that PG&E plays a vital role in the development of the area it serves.

Many, of course, are highly critical of the huge utility and its attitude and actions. But the fact remains that PG&E must have its fingers on the pulse and that its projections must, of necessity, be based on a sound premise.

We quote from the covering note: "In our planning we annually develop estimates of business trends in Northern and Central California with data from our many local and other sources...."

And to quote from the Foreword:

"Northern and Central California is fortunate to have many natural advantages as a region in which to live and work which are not found elsewhere in the world in such abundance or diversity.

"Pleasant weather and the beauties of the ocean, mountains, rivers, many lakes, and of course San Francisco Bay, favor outdoor recreation. Rich farming soil and forest and mineral wealth help build a strong economy.

"But our greatest asset is the people who live here in a true melting pot of the United States.

"The native Californians, who are outnumbered by those who started life elsewhere, realize the contributions made to the progress of this area by all the people who live here, from the Indians whose forebears were here when the Spanish came to the newest arrival from Maine or Mississippi.

"This Market Outlook for 1970 is dedicated to the spirit and goals of these, the people of Northern and Central California.

"Growing pains perennially test this region. Its natural beauties and the purity of its air and water now are threatened by the tide of migration California's climate, scenery and wealth have attracted. Californians, including newcomers, are determined to preserve the environment.

"Human problems are no less troublesome. Unruly conduct has marred the scene from time to time since the days of the Barbary Coast. But from all this turbulence of a frontier land new life styles have risen and still are influencing that influence the entire nation.

"This area will continue in 1970 to surpass the national averages for population gain, per capita retail sales, personal income, and rate of gain in employment.

"PG&E will both share in, and contribute to this continued expansion, adding about 102,000 new customers to its lines. New record sales of energy, both gas and electric, are expected in 1970.

"This Market Outlook 1970 is offered as a service to our industry associates and those interested in the business prospects of this area. It is presented as a helpful tool to aid business decisions and further the greater well-being of the people in this 94,000 square miles of opportunity.

The report goes into great detail and the "chapter" headings are especially intriguing:

"Californians: Why different? Distinctive life style makes this state a weather vane for markets.

"145,000 More People in 1970. PG&E area to slacken only slightly after 28% rise in decade.

"Outlook is for Strong Economy..Higher personal incomes, employment, retail sales in view with single 'IP'.

"Home Building May Rise a Bit..Few vacancies and strong demand counter stringent money supply and rates.

"Recreation Big in California..Lighting the night helps cap* larger share of $900 million expenditure.

"Shopping Malls Enter New Era..Reblossoming core cities vie with suburban centers of 1970.

"New 'Gold Rush' Pulls Industry-Only 16 categories among 418 now lacking as major corporations build plants.

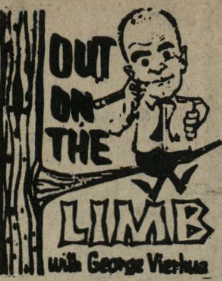

"The Small Town No Longer Small-Widened markets appear as high rise landmarks spill over into suburbs (and there is picture of "The Towers" in Campbell's Prune Yard).

"Rapid Transit Will Roll Soon-Commercial developments along route already tell coming economic stimulus."

Admittedly the report is geared to the part PG&E is to play.

But it does make interesting reading.

"Sakamoto's parents live in Campbell and he presently lives in Saratoga.
"Besides if I get enough stories in papers, I won't get K. P.
"Thanks, Lew".

Of course, we will use the photograph and story.

Not only because of the local interest (Lt. Col. Thomas T. Sakamoto, son of Mr. and Mrs. Yasutaro Sakamoto, of 510 Sunny Oaks, Campbell, was awarded the Legion of Merit) but because we always hate to see outstanding journalists involved with pots and pans instead of a typewriter. (That's what we keep telling our Dorothy.)

And, besides, we owe Lew something because of that mayors' picture.

BUT BACK TO THE REVIEW-A surprising number of people informed us that they had already forgotten some of the events. The photos revived their memories.

As you know, the pictures were run with the same cut-lines that had appeared originally, with the month in which they had appeared superimposed on them.

There were some of our readers who failed to recognize that the pictures had appeared before and were a little confused by it all.

There was one caller who infuriated the entire staff at our joint.

He took particular umbrage at The Press for this paper's choice (would you believe?) for mother-of-the-year, a selection made for the Mother's Day issue of last May.

The entire staff of The Press is especially proud of the mother-of-the-year, Mrs. Patrick (Maggie) Sullivan, the mother of nine children, who still finds time to participate in community, school and church activities.

We did not take the call from the kook who made it (Fran, who did, got mad enough for all of us).

We don't know why he waited until the review of the year to make his call, unless he had not seen the original issue.

Fran reported that the nut indicated on the phone that having that many kids was a crime.

An old newspaper adage claims that it is always safe editorially to come out for motherhood and against sin.

Now we are not so sure about that.

Still and all, we are glad we didn't take that phone call.

One of our resolutions for the new year is to try to keep our temper more under control.

More sweetness and light is our goal.

But, brother, deliver us from phone calls of that nature.

RUNNING THOSE REVIEW pictures as we did may have been a little confusing to some but not half as confusing as the situation was for one of our subscribers who called in.

The lady reported that, after receiving her paper from the carrier she had settled down to read it, only to find that it all sounded vaguely familiar.

She then discovered that the carrier had mistakenly delivered her a paper that had been left over from two weeks

Percolation ponds also extend to the rear of the 12-ft. x 12-ft. tower which has been designed in such a way, according to Chief Maxwell, that it will give simulated training for fighting fires in high-rise structures.

The administration and fire prevention staff of the fire department will move from the present location on Central Ave. into the new station when it is completed.

The station will also house the engine company that has been located for almost eight years in a residence rented from Lou Colla, also on Sunny Oaks.

SOME IDEA OF THE overlapping boundaries in the school districts in the area can be ascertained from the list of candidates who have filed for the position that is open on the Campbell Union (elementary) School District board of trustees.

(Bill Parton has resigned and under a new law an election must be held. In previous years vacancies could be filled by appointment.)

Anyway, there are eight candidates for the spot in the election that has been set for Feb. 17.

Five communities are represented in the addresses listed for the eight candidates.

Four of them have San Jose mailing addresses and Los Gatos, Monte Sereno, Santa Clara and Campbell are represented by the other four.

And the district also extends into Saratoga.

But it IS the Campbell school district.

BURNED OUT CHURCH STILL HOLDS SERVICES-The 350-seat sanctuary of Saratoga Ave. Baptist Church, 1735 Saratoga Ave., was completely demolished by a two-alarm fire Jan. 1. The congregation had met the night before at 11:15 p.m. for their annual watch night service, ending at midnight. The alarm was turned in at 9 p.m. Arson is being investigated.

Services are being continued for the 400 members of the congregation in a building adjacent to the burned structure with choir robes and hymnals borrowed from the Calvary Baptist Church. Music is being furnished by an organ and piano on loan by the Stevens Music Co.

My dear friends at the Campbell Press,

I want to wish you much happiness at this Christmas season, and the best New Year ever. You have brought much pleasure to me through the years that you have published the paper, continuing the traditions established when my friend, Mrs. Edna Smith, and her husband published it.

It occurred to me that perhaps I did not notify you of my change of address, as I am no longer receiving the Campbell Press regularly. When I lived at 39 N. Central Ave., the boy used to always be so kind as to bring the paper to my wheelchair. I miss his pleasant service.

Will you please begin sending my paper to my new address:

cost to the city and (2) that the applicant must provide satisfactory access to the residential development.

The applicant, represented by Michael DiLeonardo, Sunnyvale attorney, maintains that there is no way for a private party to forcibly acquire an access so the conditions levied mean nothing. City ordinance requires that apartments must have access to a public street.

Before the Planning Commission approved the apartments, however, City Attorney Joe Bonacina ruled that there was no legal reason why the conditions requiring access could not be included in the approval.

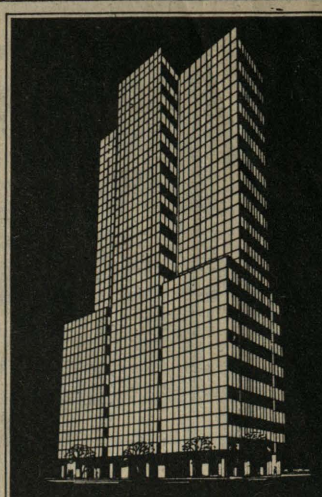

He explained that the map that was filed indicated that there could be a "possible" access street extending to Union Ave., some 1400-feet away. Thus the Planners, Bonacina said, could approve the plans, subject to what happens to the access in the future.

In other actions on Monday night, the Commission approved plans for Par Concrete for an addition to an existing industrial building at 615 McGlincey Lane.

Approved also were the plans for a service station for Anthony C. Morici, developers of the former Gomes Ranch between Hamilton and Latimer. The Commission also approved the withdrawal of the zone change request of Dolores Pozzi for property at 530 W. Campbell. The application had been filed subject to what zoning would be placed on the Lowell Grattan property adjacent to it.

Merrill Grim was elected chairman for 1970 and Dale Scott, vice-chairman, prior to the start of Planning Commission proceedings on Monday night.

Marriage enrichment series starts Jan. 11 at local church

The Committee on Family Life of the First United Methodist Church of Campbell is offering to the community a series on "The Art of Love and Conflict". According to chairman Richard E. Burdick, the four Sunday series is designed to promote the enrichment of relationships in the home.

Dr. Richard D. Sheehan, president of the Santa Clara County Family Life Education Association, will serve as moderator each of the four Sunday evenings and prominent persons in the field of marriage counseling will participate.

Kicking off the program is the session on Jan. 11 entitled "Is There an Art To Conflict?" Speakers are Murray Bower, M.D., and Warren Weiss, M.A. Dr. Bower is currently in private practice at the Valley Psychiatric Clinic and serving as a consultant on the Professional Advisory Board of the Peninsula Children's Center in Palo Alto.

He also serves as consultant to various industries and to the Alum Rock Elementary School District. Weiss, a licensed marriage counselor, is currently Supervising Conciliation Counselor of the Santa Clara County Conciliation Court.

On Jan. 18 Richard L. Holbrook, M.S.W., psychiatric social worker now in private practice and a member of the teaching staff at the Mental Research Institute in Palo Alto will speak on "Intimacy in Marriage - Its Promises and Its Fears".

"Love As an Art" will be the topic on Jan. 25 for Antonio J. Ferreira, M.D., and Konrad Fischer, M.S.W. Dr. Ferreira, a practicing psychiatrist, presently serves as consultant to Catholic Social Services, as teaching consultant at Agnews State Hospital, as research associate at the Mental Research Institute in Palo Alto, and as research consultant at San Jose State College.

Fischer, a psychiatric social worker and co-founder of the Valley Psychiatric Clinic, has served as consultant for probation workers and with police and schools in the area. The concluding session on

Feb. 1 is entitled "Graduation or Commencement?" and the five resource persons will present a panel during which they will continue to deal with questions which have been raised and suggest ways in which learnings may become a part of how we handle our family relationships.

The series is open to the public and will be held on the dates designated from 6:30-8:30 p.m. in the Fellowship Hall of the First United Methodist Church of Campbell at 1675 Winchester Blvd. Donations for the series are $3 for the entire series or $1 for each session. Baby-sitting is available at the church.

Jan. 9 set for chorus auditions

The San Jose Chorus will hold auditions for its spring concert on Jan. 9, 7 to 9 p.m. at 1771 Grace Ave., south off of Hamilton Ave. Auditions will also be held each Monday evening at 7 p.m. before rehearsal at 7:30, at the Hester School, 1460 The Alameda.

The chorus will sing The Oratorio, "The Elijah" and "Judas Maccabaeus" for their spring concert, April 25 and 26.

Anyone desiring more information regarding auditions or the Chorus, please contact the secretary, Mrs. Dale Goodnight at 377-3843.

Drug Dilemma topic of meet

"The Drug Dilemma" will be the topic of the January meeting of the Faculty Women and Faculty Wives of West Valley College. Speaking before the group on Thursday, Jan. 8 will be a member of the Campbell Police Dept.

Mrs. Mel Tuscher, program chairman, will introduce the speaker. The meeting will be held at 8 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Harold Welborn, 13067 La Vista Ct., Saratoga. Hostesses for the evening include Mrs. Welborn, Mrs. Jack Casey, Mrs. Arne Lunde, Mrs. Tom Perry and Mrs. De-Boyd Smith.

A brief business meeting will also be held during the evening and refreshments will be served.

Miss Davis changes name to Mrs Davis at recent ceremonies

MR. AND MRS. MARK DAVIS

Miss Gayle Marie Davis became the bride of Mark Steven Davis at ceremonies held recently at the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints of San Jose. Performing the double ring ceremony was Bishop Jerry A. Mann.

A lovely gown of lace over taffeta with long sleeves pointed at the wrists and a fan shaped neckline was chosen by Gayle for her wedding gown. A long flowing train attached at the shoulders was made of the lace material with a silk illusion veil held with a headpiece of orange blossoms. For her bouquet she carried a lovely spray arrangement of baby carnations and stephanotis with ferns cascading from an orchid centerpiece.

Shades of blue were worn by the wedding attendants Miss Jacque Donecho and Miss Kay Davis. They both wore lace and velvet gowns of light blue with dark blue velvet skirts. Blue carnation bouquets with matching velvet streamers completed the picture.

Gayle is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey A. Davis of 1377 Antonio Lane. Graduating from the Campbell High School in 1969, she is now employed as a receptionist for Lauretine Finance. For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Davis chose a blue gown with jeweled neckline and sleeve accents and matching accessories, accented with a purple orchid corsage.

Mark chose his friend, Ronald Bartholow, as his best man while the guests were ushered by Jim Crouch. As an added honor the two mothers of the wedding party were escorted to their seats by the bride and groom's 15-year-old brothers. Dressed alike in black tuxedos, the bride's brother, Steven, escorted his mother to the front of the church, while the honors were accorded the groom's mother by Kelly Davis, brother of the groom. The two boys also play football together on the Campbell football squad.

Mark is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gary Davis of 1280 Nadine Dr. He was graduated from Campbell High School in 1968 and joined the U.S. Air Force in 1969. He is now stationed at Travis Air Force Base in Fairfield, Calif., where the young couple are now making their home following the honeymoon in Carmel.

Following the ceremony the newly-weds greeted their guests at a buffet supper where the bridal colors of blue and white encircled the five-tiered wedding cake of white and silver. The groom's mother wore a beige lace over taffeta gown as she met the guests in the receiving line. Her ensemble was complemented by a purple orchid corsage as was that of Mrs. Dorothy Michaels of Hayward, grandmother of the bride who was present for the ceremony uniting the two Davis families.

REV. LLOYD OLSON

Methodists to hear Rev. Olson

The Rev. Lloyd H. Olson will be the guest minister Sunday, Jan. 11 at both the 9 a.m. and 10:30 a.m. services of the First United Methodist Church of Campbell, 1675 Winchester Blvd.

Rev. Olson recently retired as associate minister of the First Methodist Church of San Jose, and is now doing spot assignment work in the California-Nevada Conference Area. He will be serving for three months in the First Methodist Church of Santa Clara.

He served as regional director of the Seattle office of the National Conference of Christians and Jews. He had a weekly radio program of religious news for eleven years and has recently served pulpits in Milpitas and Palo Alto.

Rev. Olson will speak on the topic, "The Light Shines On".

O.E.S.
Initiation of new members will be held Jan. 9 at the Campbell Chapter Order of Eastern Star No. 553.

All officers will wear white for the initiation night ceremonies which will be held at the Odd Fellows Hall, 276 E. Campbell Ave. Presiding will be Mrs. Mary Wilson, worthy matron and Les Titus, worthy patron.

Lecture series presents Manry

Robert Manry, captain of the 13½-foot sloop Tinkerbelle, will be the guest speaker Monday, Jan. 19 as the second of the celebrity series sponsored by The League of Eastfield Childrens Center.

Manry sets sail alone on June 1, 1965 for a 78-day journey across the Atlantic from Falmouth, Mass. to Falmouth, England. His adventure was taken in the spirit that "There comes a time that one must decide, of one's dreams, either to risk everything to achieve them, or sit for the rest of one's life in the backyard."

He had recently completed another voyage, this time accompanied by his wife and two teen-age children. The 6,000 miles through the Great Lakes, down the Illinois and Mississippi Rivers, across the Gulf of Mexico to the Bahamas, back up the Atlantic seaboard and back through the St. Lawrence Seaway to Cleveland.

Manry will be speaking at 10:30 a.m. at the Fox Town and Country Theatre, Stevens Creek and Winchester Blvd. Eastfield is the home for emotionally disturbed children.

Library to hold story time for pre-schoolers

Hey, Mom! Here's a Wednesday morning treat for your pre-schooler.

Campbell Public Library, 349 E. Campbell Ave., presents a story time session every Wednesday morning at 10. All 3½ through 6-year-olds are invited and no registration is required. Here's your chance to leave your young ones with the storyteller and browse for books yourself.

Nursery school groups who wish to attend story hours are invited to contact the children's librarian, Mrs. Kelly.

Dinner dance to kick off Moose membership drive

Campbell Moose Lodge No. 1811 is planning a buffet dinner and dance for Jan. 24 as a kick-off on their joint enrollment membership drive. The chapter will enroll new members starting at 7 p.m. and lodge enrollment will begin at 8 p.m.

In anticipation of the enrollment night a booster night has been scheduled for Jan. 16 with all members, wives, potential members and their wives welcome. The social hour will start at 7 p.m. followed by a buffet and short program. C. B. Lychak, membership chairman, has issued an appeal to all members to assist in getting the membership program off to a good start.

Members of the lodge enjoyed the children's Christmas party at which time over 100 children were presented gifts and candy by Santa Claus. Chairmen for the party were Bobbie Bollenbacher, George Lychak and Bing DeNoyer.

An adult party was held in the evening of the same day and a New Year's Eve party was also enjoyed by a large crowd.

A dinner-dance is scheduled for Saturday, Jan. 10, with all members of wives born during the month of January receiving a free dinner and special recognition.

ALUMNAE MEET

The Santa Clara Valley Alumnae Club of Alpha Gamma Delta will meet Jan. 12 at 8 p.m. at the home of Mrs. George Wolf, 3001 Fruitdale Ave., San Jose.

Guest speaker will be Jim Russ, Youth Minister of the Saratoga Federated Church, who will discuss "What's Right With the Youth of Today".

Legion plans Jan. 9 meeting

West Valley Post 158, American Legion, will hold their first meeting of the year on Friday, Jan. 9 at the Legion Hall, on Dell Ave.

Initiation will be held and a prize will be given away during the evening. Refreshments are also being planned according to William Broadstone, commander.

A total of 227 paid up members have been enrolled for the coming year. One of the regular features of the Post activities is the Seven-Up pancake breakfast held the first Sunday of every month. The next one is scheduled for Feb. 1, at the Legion Hall.

PG&E requests hike in rates

Pacific Gas and Electric Company has applied for its first electric rate increase in 12 years, citing inflation and high cost of money for expansion as the major causes.

If authorized by the California Public Utilities Commission, the rate increase would amount to about four cents per day for the average residential customer.

The overall increase in rates would be about 9 1/2 per cent and would produce $67.4 million additional annual revenue from the more than 2.5 million electric customers PG&E serves in Northern and Central California. The requested increase is calculated to produce a rate of return of 7.8 per cent on the company's net investment in electric facilities.

One of the chief causes for the proposed increase, PG&E said, is high interest rates on bonds sold to finance new construction. This has nearly doubled in the past five years, to the current interest rate of about 9 per cent.

W.V College offers lecture, forum series

Several interesting lectures and forums are planned for the next few weeks at the West Valley College starting tonight with a forum on four of the critical policy questions facing America today.

The forum will deal with four geographical areas - Soviet Russia, Latin America, Western Europe and Japan - all of which are in the forefront of the news and which could be pivotal in shaping world lines of force in the next decade.

Dr. Philip Mosely, director of the European Institute of Columbia University, will deliver the third of four lectures on "America and Western Europe" Jan. 22.

Other lecturers include the Rev. Andrew Juvinat, pastor of Hamilton United Methodist Church in San Francisco; Dr. Donald Barnhart, chairman of the social sciences department at San Francisco State College; and John K. Emmerson, scholar in residence at Stanford University and research fellow at Hoover Institution.

A one-night lecture and slide presentation on the kayak will be presented at West Valley College Jan. 9, given by Frank Goodman, a noted builder and advocate of the sport. Goodman is ranked in the first division of the English National Kayak Championships and excels in river running on white water and kayak surfing.

Interested participants in the one-night lecture, which will begin at 8 p.m., must make advance reservations through the Office of Community Services, located at 44 E. Latimer Ave., Campbell, room L-26, telephone 379-1733, ext. 58.

Forum lecture reservations will also be made on a first-come, first-served basis.

Fifty strumming banjos make beautiful music together

Like toe-tapping, hand-clapping banjo music? Then you're in for a treat every Monday night when members of the Chuck Ray Peninsula Banjo Band gather at 8 p.m. at the Straw Hat Pizza Parlor, 1400 W. Campbell Ave., for a two-hour practice session.

The colorful group in their red vests and ties is directed by the versatile Charlie Tagawa, who literally bounces as he directs the band through such favorites as "Five Foot Two, Eyes of Blue", "It's a Long Way to Tipperary" and

PRESENTING--THE PENINSULA BANJO BAND--

"Marching Through Pretoria". The audience at the Pizza Parlor is invited to join in both the singing and the hand-clapping. "Gut buckets" add resonance to the band and a musical washboard is another added feature.

Ward Pinther, owner of the Straw Hat, has loaned his establishment for the practice sessions of the band which plays outside engagements for charity organizations or fund raising drives. Their principal beneficiary is the Braille fund.

Members of the band come from as far as Santa Cruz and San Carlos to participate.

Glen Atkinson is booking agent for the banjo band which is open to anyone owning a banjo and willing to play. No auditions are required, and young and old alike are members of the band which ranges in age from 10 to almost 80.

So, when the Monday night blues hit you, just toodle on down to the Straw Hat. Come as you are--no admittance charge--just relax with the with a group of 50 strumming banjos!

Only take a tip and get there early--by 7:30 all the available seats are rapidly being filled as family groups arrive to enjoy the music and good wholesome family entertainment.

ON CAPITOL HILL

If interviewed privately and "off the record", 75 per cent of the House of Representatives would probably say that the war on poverty has been a miserable failure. They believe in its principles, but also believe it can best be waged by scuttling the infested present structure of the Office of Economic Opportunity and starting all over.

Yet, despite this majority attitude, the House recently passed a two-year extension of the present program with practically no change. This result which contradicted inner Congressional feelings is strange, but no more so than the wild legislative history of the extension.

The war on poverty program was scheduled to expire on June 30, President Nixon, who strongly ridiculed it during his campaign, requested a simple one-year extension in order to buy the time necessary to offer his own recommendations.

Committee Chairman Carl

Perkins (D-Ky.) labeled the President's proposal as "ridiculous, discouraging and demoralizing" and started hearings on March 24 on his own bill to extend the Office of Economic Opportunity, as is, for five years. The hearings conducted were extremely one-sided. State governors who opposed continuation of the status quo and other opponents were not given a chance to testify.

The committee finished taking testimony early in June in plenty of time to meet the expiration deadline of June 30. But Chairman Perkins did nothing and the bill and the hearings merely gathered dust while OEO limped along in a status which was technically not authorized. Finally on Nov. 22 Perkins released the simple extension bill and it was set for House consideration on Dec. 3.

In the meantime, Representative Edith Green (D-Ore.) and Albert Quie (R-Minn.) had been developing support for a substitute bill which would change the OEO structure and allow states to develop and direct poverty programs. On the morning of Dec. 3 it was obvious that the substitute would pass overwhelmingly, so Chairman Perkins reversed himself and refused to allow his bill to be considered.

By delaying he hoped to gain time for the so-called "poverty lobby" to start a pressure campaign and reverse the apparent tide.

Meanwhile, War on Poverty Director Rumsfeld, who as a Congressman had offered legislation very similar to the Green-Quie substitute, stalled for time and insisted he could straighten out the mess at OEO. These delays set the stage for a major upset.

The bill came up for debate on Dec. 12 when members were anxious to adjourn for Christmas. Debate was cut off and the chance to present amendments curtailed. In my own case, I was given 30 seconds to explain two serious amendments which I had developed. Finally, I got one of my amendments accepted by using a parliamentary device which slowed the legislative steamroller.

The final result of the strange legislative history which extended the war on poverty was of course not to my liking. But had it pleased me, in all fairness, I would still be forced to say that the entire matter did not represent one of the finer moments of the House of Representatives. Such legislative treatment of a bad program won't make it better.

County loses 15% of cultivated agricultural land in six years

Santa Clara County lost almost 15 percent of its cultivated agricultural land to urbanization during six years studied by the planning staff of the Association of Bay Area Governments.

In an Agricultural Resources report recently released by ABAG, it was found that new real estate subdivisions took 30.9 percent of the county's land between 1960 and 1966.

The Bay Area as a whole loses an average of 13,000 acres of agricultural land each year to other uses. Despite this loss of land, the value of the region's agricultural production has remained at close to $300 million a year. Farmers have shifted to high yield crops and increased their productivity.

Santa Clara County, however, experienced the largest decline in the value of its agricultural crops. A loss of 27.7 percent was caused by the conversion of orchards to urban uses. This loss of 15,000 acres of orchards meant a decline of $21 million in the production of fruits and nuts.

One-third of the Bay Area's prime agricultural land is already in urban use. Local jurisdictions must measure future costs and benefits, both economic and social, in deciding whether to develop or preserve agricultural land. The Study suggests a detailed methodology that can be applied to particular parcels of land by local planners to determine costs and benefits.

The effects of zoning have been minimal in the Bay Area in preserving agricultural land from a wide variety of other uses. Santa Clara County is considered to have restrictive agricultural zoning.

ABAG planners suggest that agricultural land be zoned in two groups to enforce strict agricultural use. The first group, Exclusive Agricultural, corresponds with Santa Clara's A zone. This zone is defined according to the rules governing agricultural preserves for assessment relief under the California Land Conservation Act (Williamson Bill). The second agricultural zone would be a Rural-Residential zone.

The report concludes that the Williamson Bill has been only moderately successful in keeping land in agricultural use. Farmers have been reluctant to commit the future use of their land to agriculture, especially if the land is threatened by urban expansion. Santa Clara County has the largest amount of acreage covered by Williamson Bill of any of the Bay Area Counties.

The Open Space Constitutional Amendment approved by California voters in 1966 has not as yet had any effect on the loss of agricultural land.

The value of agricultural land as an open space resource should be considered by local governments. Such land, is economically productive. It also is valuable in terms of flood plain protection, airshed, quality protection, as a tourist attraction and visual amenity. These benefits should be balanced against the cost of facilities, services, and other expenditures required by local governments when urban development occurs.

The Agricultural Resources Study was financed in part by a 701 planning grant from the Department of Housing and Urban Development. The report is part of the Association of Bay Area Government's regional planning program.

SMOKERS TAX

State Controller Houston I. Flournoy has announced the distribution of $5,650,563 to counties and cities as the October apportionment of cigarette tax.

Santa Clara County's share was $39,372.56, and Campbell City's share was $7,815.96.

West Valley Sports

By Dick Sparrer
Seven Campbell High School grads helped spark the West Valley College football to their first-ever conference title as they rambled to a 9-1 season marking.

Members of the Viking grid squad who were graduates of Campbell High included Grant Mayfield, Mark Cunningham, Steve Malone, Andy Jackson, Andy Morris, Stan Hedegard and Dennis Craig.

The Vikes took the Camino Norte Conference crown but lost 45-20 in the opening round of the state play-offs to Chabot.

With no time left on the clock WVC pushed over their final score of the 1969 campaign. The Viking fans provided a three minute standing ovation for the CNC champs even though they had lost the game.

"This was the most dedicated and enthusiastic team I've ever coached," surmised Valley boss Bob Jones. "It was the best football year ever for West Valley College." The Vikes were eliminated in the first round of the play-offs after winning nine straight games and holding down the state's number one spot for three weeks.

"We've just scratched the surface in football here, at West Valley," added Jones. "We had a great season and it will be hard to match."

In their season opener, Valley crushed the Ohlone Renegades 42-0 at the Union City High School field. Bill Barnes, a Wilcox High product, led the attack completing nine of ten passes for 274 yards and four touchdowns.

San Jose City was the only team to really beat the Vikes badly in '68 but WVC got their revenge. The Jaguars of SJ fell 17-0 as WVC put on a valiant second half surge. Grant Mayfield, a Campbell grad, surprised all as he led the Vikings hitting attack with a strong defensive game.

Interceptions by Ron Semon, Leigh, his second of the year, Mark Cunningham, Campbell, and Gary Jacobson, Buchser, provided enough turn-overs for a WVC shut-out.

American River was ranked as the No. 3 team in the state until WVC trekked to Sacramento. The Vikes came back with a 20-0 win and a spot on California's top ten list. The week before the Vikes lost their unscored-upon status but hung on to outclass Cabrillo 24-21.

Steve Malone, Campbell, picked off a Marin pass and sprinted 55 yards to pay dirt to off-set the upset-minded Tars 34-27.

Contra Costa had an upset in mind but, after trailing 18-6 at halftime, the Vikes grabbed a 31-24 win.

Linemen Andy Jackson, Campbell; Herb Robinson, Blackford; Rocki LaMantia, Saratoga; and Ken Burg, Blackford, opened up big holes as West Valley ground out 383 land yards in their 49-19 win over Solano. Dave Ray, Buchser, was the rushing leader with 201 yards in 23 tries but was given much ground support. Andy Morris, Campbell, crushed out 98 yards and a score in 15 times with the ball.

D. Ray went out to beat Santa Rosa all alone as he scored three times when the Vikes beat the Bearcats 28-7.

West Valley held an 8-0 mark. They were No. 1 in the state. DeAnza maintained a 7-1 standing and was No. 6. The stage was set for the CNC title tilt. D. Ray was in good running form as he rambled for 129 yards. The 5'6" 150-pound halfback took the first play from scrimmage 77 yards to pay dirt. Barnes threw 21 tosses, connecting on 10 for 223 yards and three td's while running over two. Scott Loomis, Saratoga, took six serials for 159 yards including two 51-yard and one 18-yard goal-line crossers and Larry Ray, Buchser, booted five PAT's. But it wasn't enough.

The Dons scored with five seconds remaining, added one more in the ensuing series, and were the apparent winners at the final gun. It was the Vikes, however, at the state play-offs as DAC was forced to forfeit all their games because of an ineligible player.

West Valley's new life was short-lived, though, as Chabot rambled to a 45-20 win in the play-off opener. The Vikings highlight in the loss was a sustained drive in the closing minutes, capped by a D. Ray touchdown dive with no time remaining and a Barnes to Stan Hedegard, Campbell, two-point toss, for which they received a standing ovation from the appreciative Valley fans.

D. Ray ended his career in Viking navy blue and orange with a 112-yard performance while Barnes threw 18 of 34. L. Ray caught three tosses for 47 yards and two scores and Hedegard four for 55 yards. Malone added his fifth interception of the year and Mike Lombardo, Blackford, picked off an enemy pass. Murphy MacFarland, Branham, hit hard from his tackle post while Dennis Craig, Campbell, played tough defense.

Malone, Jackson, Hedegard and Craig saw action in their final game for West Valley College. But the Vikes should suit 38 lettermen for next season "barring a total war or academic disaster," according to Jones. Among those returning are former Bucs Mayfield, Cunningham and Bill Forster.

looks at the brief ceremony land Army Base. The award was made by Col. Ellis L. Ful-honoring her husband.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Yasutaro Sakamoto, of 511 Sunny Oaks Ave., Campbell, Lt. Col. Sakamoto served as Chief, Counterintelligence Division, Office of Assistant Chief of Staff, G2, Headquarters U.S. Army, Vietnam from Nov. 1968 to Nov. 1969.

He received the Legion of Merit for "exceptionally meritorious conduct" while in Vietnam. Col. Sakamoto, who attended Santa Clara High School for two years, ended 28 years of active duty with his retirement Dec. 31, 1969. He received his high school diploma from Kyushu Academy in Japan in 1938 before entering the Army Feb. 26, 1941. He earned a BA degree from San Francisco State in 1963.

He was involved in combat landings in the Admiralties and Hollandia, New Guinea, during World War II and was an Interrogation of Prisoners of War office during the Korean conflict. He holds two Bronze Stars and four Army Commendation Medals.

His wife is the former Sadie Shoga, daughter of Tom Shoga, San Jose.

PHARMACY PHACTS

By Allan Blaine

Every year, over twenty-four million people visit their physicians because of headaches.

Hearing-ear dog? Yes, a young lady in Denver who is deaf has such an animal. When her German Shepherd seemed aware of the girl's deafness - pawing at her when the phone rang, etc. - he was given training and earned the AKC Companion Dog degree.

A Purdue professor says a decline in hearing ability, aside from other organic reason, could warn of unhealthy veins or arteries, and should be checked.

Specialists believe that the safest place in the world to have a heart attack is Belfast, Ireland. Next safest: the area around St. Vincent's Hospital in New York City, because of the facilities available.

In Malaya, ailing elephants are given orchids as medicine. (Maybe this would also help ailing wives?)

Beautification scrapbook entered in national contest

Culmination of a year's work in the Campbell Beautification project came last week with the large 168-page scrapbook chronicling all of the year's efforts toward making Campbell a better community, was sent off to the National Clean-Up, Paint-Up, Fix-Up contest held in Washington, D.C.

The scrapbook entry, which is Campbell's second effort at obtaining national recognition for their beautification work, represented the work of over 500 men-hours in just assembling the book under the direction of Mrs. Jeanette Watson, beautification chairman. The 8 x 24 inch page book weighed over 40 pounds and by special arrangement with United Air Lines, was sent to Washington, D.C., free of charge.

Getting the book delivered to the proper authorities represented another challenge for the committee members, but arrangements were made with Joseph Orth, vice-president of National Scientific, who sent a special courier to meet the plane and transport it to its destination.

Travel arrangements were made by Evelyn Hahn, Campbell Travel manager.

Last year Campbell's entry received special mention by the national committee. Actual coalition of the book was done at the Watson home with members of the beautification committee, Parks and recreation, Chamber of Commerce, city staff members, and volunteers from San Tomas and Forrest Hill schools all working toward the Dec. 31 deadline.

Notification of the entry placement will be received by the end of January.

Mrs. Watson reported that a special Christmas present was received by the Campbell Citizens for Beautification from Floyd Little, A & W Root Beer Drive-In owner at 2145 Winchester Blvd.

On Dec. 24 Little delivered a Christmas Card and a check for $100 to Mrs. Watson with the following notation: "This is a token of appreciation and admiration to all of the people of Campbell who have worked so faithfully for the beautification of Campbell. You have been creative and energetic in your efforts. A special niche will always be in my heart for each of you". Little has made other large contributions to the beautication of Campbell and is always an ardent supporter of civic clean-up campaigns.

Mrs. Watson requested that anyone with special ideas as to how to best use the special money, would be welcome.

WITH A WING AND A PRAYER—Campbell's entry into the National Clean-Up, Paint-Up, Fix-Up contest was sent off last week through the courtesy of United Air Lines, arranged by Evelyn Hahn, manager of the Campbell Travel Service.

Members of the send-off committee included, l. to r., Mrs. Hahn, Bud Garcia, district salesman for United Air Lines; Mrs. Jeanette Watson, Campbell beautification chairman; Neal Royer, Campbell Chamber of Commerce president, holding the huge scrapbook; and Dean Chamberlin, Campbell vice-mayor.

NEW DIRECTOR -- Andrew H. Mettee, regional planning consultant for the Bay Area Health Facilities Planning Association for the last three years and former director of the Nevada State Hospital, becomes assistant executive director of 44-bed Community Hospital of Los Gatos-Saratoga effective Jan. 1.

An experienced hospital executive, Mettee was administrative head of the Amador County Hospital in Jackson and White Pine General Hospital, Ely, Nevada, and as business administrator of the Nevada State Hospital for three years, administered and managed the 600-bed state mental hospital at Reno.

He and his wife will make their home in Los Gatos.

Indian issues topic of forum at W.V. College

An explosion of social issues and American Indian pride will be explored in a four-week forum on the "Contemporary American Indian" at West Valley College.

The forum, which begins Jan. 16 and runs through Feb. 6, will seek to answer the question "How does the American Indian, long isolated from the expanding and changing culture of the white man, become assimilated into the mainstream of this country's affairs?"

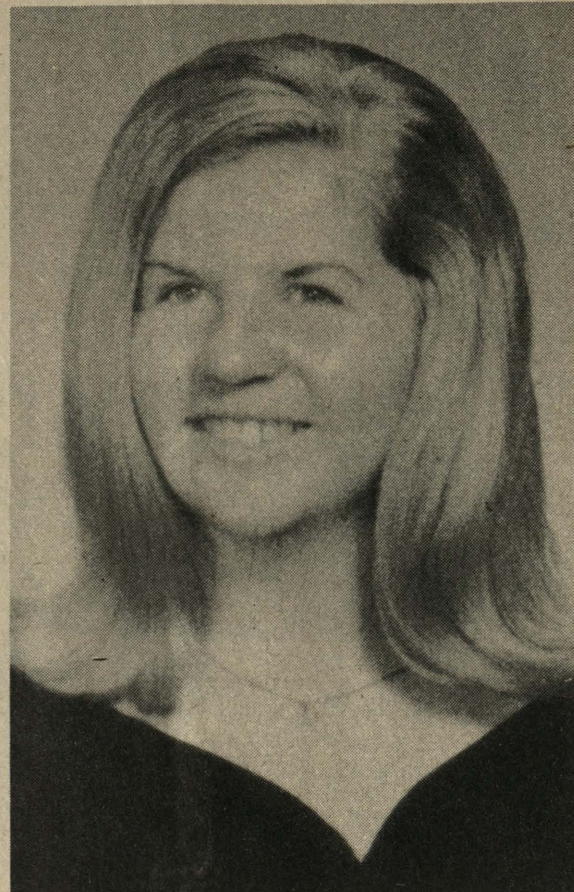

Norman Sahmaunt, a full-blooded Kiowa Indian, will speak Jan. 16 on "The California Indian: A Federal Affair?" On Jan. 23 Dr. Bea Medicine, a Dakota Sioux and assistant professor of anthropology at San Francisco State College, will speak on "Contemporary Social Movements and Cross Cultural Education."

"Indian-White Relationships" will be explored Jan. 30 by Melvin D. Thom, director for the Coalition of American Indians in Nevada.

The series will wind up Feb. 6 with Al Elgin, director of the Intertribal Friendship House in Oakland, who will discuss "The Urban Indian."

College district must register for the class at the Office of Community Services, 44 E. Latimer Ave., Campbell, room L-26, telephone 379-1733, ext. 58.

Wide-eyed in Washington

By Mason Sacks

It's the Image That Counts

By Mason Sacks

It's common knowledge in Washington that one of the things that an elected official cherishes most is a favorable press. In purely political terms, a favorable press can be the single greatest factor in a Congressman's or Senator's successful quest for reelection. There are other reasons, however, why the press merits significant attention from members of Congress. In speaking with the appropriate members of several Congressmen's staffs, I learned what some of these other reasons are.

"In our office," related the press secretary for a Southern Congressman, "we use the press for two things, to be perfectly frank. First, of course, is politics: selling soap, if you know what I mean. If the public sees the Congressman's name in the paper, they assume he's busy. The amount of press coverage is directly related to a person's stature. The press for is educating our constituents. I'm a liberal, the Congressman is a moderate, and the district is conservative. Therefore, we sometimes have to explain our actions to our constituents."

"For example, we voted for the direct election of the President. After the vote, we sent a three page statement to all of the newspapers in the district explaining our vote. Hopefully, when our constituents were presented with all of the facts, they could at least appreciate how we came to vote in what at first appears to be an unacceptable manner."

In speaking with a press secretary for a Western Senator, I was told that the press can also help an official learn how his constituents feel about particular issues. "There are a group of secretaries in our office," said the press secretary, "who spend a large amount of time clipping articles on various issues from dozens of newspapers. While there are other ways in which we can find out how our constituents feel, such as mail, these articles that we clip can provide valuable clues."

"We depend on newspapers like anyone else to get a general idea of what is going on," reported a press aide for a prominent New England Senator. "Also, the press can help you rally public support for a piece of legislation. The same applies for influencing fellow legislators. If a piece of legislation the Senator is backing receives a favorable accounting in the New York Times and the Washington Post, it can definitely have an effect on a colleague's view of the issue, particularly if he has not yet made up his mind."

As recent events have shown, however, everything is not always just roses in government relations with the press. "The thing that irritates me most," said the press secretary for a Congressman from the Far West, "is the political analyst who presents only half the facts of a situation. There is no excuse for baseless speculation in a newspaper; if a reporter wants to speculate, he should at least take the time to get the facts on both sides of an issue."

"We've had our problems with the press," commented the Administrative Assistant of a well-known Southern Congressman, "but as time passes, things generally get better. We've built up good relations with the newspapers in our district over the years, and it has paid off. They trust us and we trust them."

When you have close personal relations with reporters, there's less of a chance of either side getting burned. They receive straight information and we get good coverage."

LOCAL ARTISTS TO EXHIBIT -- Marilyn Peery of Campbell will be one of the artists exhibiting Saturday, Jan. 10 in the Westgate Mall as part of the West Valley Artist's Association showing. The exhibit will be held from 9:30 a.m. until 6 p.m. Other artists include Mas Konatsu Boni Appleman, Jack Wilson and Wanda Faust. Above is one of the lovely pictures to be shown as painted by Boni. Many of the artists will be present at all hours to answer questions.

Dry cleaning class starts

Adults who wish to seek employment or advancement in the dry cleaning industry have an unusual opportunity to obtain virtually free training at a daily class sponsored by Metropolitan Adult Education Program beginning Monday, Jan. 12.

Held at the San Jose Regional Vocational Center, 760 Hillsdale Ave., the class is open to all adults. It will commence at 12:30 p.m. and last for three hours. The session will be for a total of ten weeks. Cost of the classes is the regular $1.50 registration fee, plus a small materials fee.

SPORTS FANS!

I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

By Al Saliccia

What are the five greatest football games ever played?... A sports service recently took a survey to find out -- in the opinion of experts from coast-to-coast... And here are the five games they picked: 1. Notre Dame 35, Army 13 in 1913... This game was picked because of its historical importance... This one game, more than any other, proved the value of the forward pass in football. 2. Illinois 39, Michigan 14, 1924... The game when Red Grange made runs of 95, 66, 55 and 40 yards each for 4 touchdowns in the 1st quarter... This is voted the greatest individual performance of all-time. 3. 1925 Rose Bowl... The classic meeting of football's most famous backfield (Notre Dame's Four Horsemen) and the man some call the greatest single back in history (Stanford's Ernie Nevers). 4. 1940 National League title game (Bears 73, Redskins 0)... This game was picked because it helped establish the modern T-formation; and because many say the Bears - that day - were the most perfect football team ever seen on a field. 5. 1958 NFL title game (Colts 23, Giants 17 in overtime)... The experts said this was the most exciting big game ever played. You probably have some favorite games yourself that you'd rank among the five greatest of all-time, but these are the ones the experts picked, and we thought you'd enjoy reading it.

the Notre Dame girls will ask shoppers to make contributions to the March of Dimes against birth defects. In addition, they will have a Saturday evening mixer from 8:30 until 11:30 p.m. at the school for the benefit of the March of Dimes against birth defects.

We're spending $385 million to turn you on this year.

During 1970, PG&E will spend $385 million to stay ahead of your growing energy needs. Not only will there be more people to serve this year, but everyone is using more and more gas and electricity. Putting this kind of money into the California economy creates new jobs and businesses. It also means new PG&E facilities will pay additional taxes which help support local schools and government.

We're expanding and improving our facilities, so that when you turn on electricity or gas, it will be ready to serve you. PG&E
